

Our Commitment

Water for All, Water for Life

Water is essential for life. It is recognized as a sacred gift by all the world's religions. It is recognized as a human right by all the world's governments.

Failure to ensure healthy life-giving water to all people poses a threat to global harmony and peace. Climate change amplifies the need to protect water.

Yet, this precious resource is not being adequately protected and shared; enormous unnecessary suffering arises from this neglect.

Without water – no life: Without water - no peace

Protecting the sacred gift of water is our commitment to ensure a healthy sustainable today and tomorrow. From a sense of gratitude and love of life and appreciation for the sacred gift of water, we ask you to join our commitment.

Therefore:

We commit, individually and collectively, to work to ensure the fulfillment of the human right to safe clean water for all.

We commit to optimize uses of water in our personal lives and policies and practices of our nations and communities.

We commit to be mindful of and grateful for our personal uses of water.

We commit to educate and inspire others on the preciousness of water.
